STILL MAKING MEDICINE

Santa Fe, N. M., April 25.—Chief interest today in the legislature centers in the efforts being made by the Republican state executive committee to fix up the situation in the house. It is probable that the Republicans will regain control of the house, but it is by no means a sure thing. A joint conference of the senate and house Republicans was held last night at the capitol building. After much discussion Senator John Clark and Representatives James W. Chaves and John Baron Burg were named as a committee of the joint caucus to await upon the executive committee and to discuss plans and methods for uniting the party in the house and senate in order to act on matters of legislation. Prior to entering the joint caucus last night the house Republicans had a house caucus. At this caucus it was decided that the house Republicans would tolerate no suggestions from the senate as to what they should or should not do with their contest cases and that any action taken on these cases would be taken by the house Republicans. It is understood the house Republicans still resent any interference on the part of the Republican executive committee, but it is believed that the conference between the committee and the three members named by the caucus last night will result in some understanding as a basis for future action.

PROHIBITION PETITIONS

Santa Fe, N. M., April 24.—Petitions bearing 14,000 signatures and asking the house to pass a measure providing for the submission to the voters of the state of a constitutional amendment for statewide prohibition. The petitions were neatly rolled and tied with red, white and blue ribbon. They were referred to the committee on temperance of the house.

In the senate nearly fifty petitions were presented protesting against the Tripp bill and asking the senate to pass an anti-prize fight measure.

The prohibition petitions came from Taos, San Juan, Rio Arriba, Mora, Dona Ana, Santa Fe and Union counties and were signed by men, women and children. A note accompanying the petitions stated that the Spanish speaking people signed ten to one, as compared with the American speaking people.

San Juan county, the "dry" county of the northern part of the state, sent the largest petition.

These immense petitions are said to be but a prelude to others that will be sent to the house and senate in a few days from other counties and show how hard the temperance advocates are working for prohibition.

LOCAL ITEMS

Thursday

Attorney Davies, of Santa Fe, came down yesterday to look after some legal business.

This is a pretty breezy day, but as misery loves company we can always console ourselves in such cases by the assurance that somebody else is catching it worse. A high wind here means a storm somewhere in the states east of us.

Willie Elgin went to Albuquerque yesterday and returned today with a new five-passenger Ford car. The car got a good initiation on the trip over today.

T. J. Moore and family, who have spent the past year at Holland, Texas, returned this noon to take up their residence on the farm northeast of town.

Capt. Fred Fornoff is in town today. He is interested in a laundry at Santa Fe, and part of his business here is to find an agent for his laundry. Most of the Estancia people will be very glad to patronize the Captain's laundry.

Friday

E. Romero is loading a car of lumber to be shipped to Albuquerque.

There will be preaching at the Methodist church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Carver, of Ft Sumner, will preach Sunday at the Baptist church.

N. A. Wells went to Willard this evening for a visit with relatives.

Levi Gray, who has been at Belen for the past two weeks returned today.

Fred Ayers made a trip to Lucia today on legal business. He was accompanied by his father, E. H. Ayers.

Roadmaster Cunningham of the N. M. C. has been here for several days making arrangements for putting in a new submerged tank at the shops.

W. R. Hunter thinks spring is here sure. Coming over from his home near Lucia this morning he met a rattlesnake in the road.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Sanchez died this afternoon. The little one had not been strong since birth.

Robert Wolverton is to enter the lists as champion gardener this season. He has bought several hundred feet of hose and will put the water where it is needed.

Joe Peterson is selling Ford cars faster than the agency at Albuquerque can fill the orders. The car brought over yesterday for Mr. Elgin cleaned up the stock, and two sold to John McGilivray and Mr. Ellet of Willard will have to be supplied from the next shipment.

For Sale.—Potatoes, both for seed and eating. Prices reasonable. B. W. Cox, 6 miles west of Estancia.

COME TO THE ESTANCIA VALLEY

The people of the Estancia valley may justly complain that there are occasional zephyrs that blow through their whiskers, and these zephyrs have also been known to stir up some dust, all of which is annoying, and in the absence of more serious disturbance by the elements is apt to cause ill natured, not to say emphatic remarks.

We say people may justly complain. When we speak of the justice of their complaints, the frailties of human nature are allowed for. It is human to complain of little things when there are no big things to complain of. Hence the people of this valley are justifiable in complaining of the breezes, for that is really all they have to fuss about.

Meanwhile we should mingle with our grumbling commiseration for the people of less favored regions

Just now the timorous residents of the Mississippi valley are fleeing to their "fraid holes" whenever an angry cloud appears. Within the past week tornadoes have devastated portions of half a dozen states east and northeast of us. Forty or fifty lives have been snuffed out, several hundred people have been maimed, and property destroyed running into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Thousands of people are homeless, many have lost their lives and the property loss runs into the millions as the result of the Mississippi flood.

Think of this, and surely you will feel thankful that you live in such a favored spot as the Estancia Valley.

CUT BY FALLING GLASS

Little Ruth Speckmann was the victim of a somewhat peculiar accident yesterday afternoon. She was playing near the east door of the house, the door standing open, when one of those little whirlwinds which are prevalent this time of year and which have sufficient force to whisk tumble weeds and loose paper about, came along. The door blew shut, breaking the glass, and the heaviest piece of glass struck the child on the back of the head, cutting an ugly gash. A physician was called to dress the wound and see that no particles of glass remained in it. Ruth bore the ordeal like a soldier, and is playing as usual today. While the scalp wound is quite severe, no serious results are anticipated.

TO EVAPORATE SALT

Sheriff Meyer has taken a vat out to the Big Salt Lake, and is going to evaporate some salt. There is no question at all about making beautiful salt in this way, but there is a question as to whether it can be done at a cost that will make it a commercial proposition with the present facilities for getting fuel and water. Mr. Meyer will know more about that after his experiments are concluded.

RECOMMEND CANDIDATES

We had begun to think that there was a good deal of hot air in the story that the executive committee of the the Republican state committee now in session in Santa Fe was going to recommend a list of federal appointees for the whole state right away quick, but it seems that the committee is doing just that thing.

Not only that, but it has already given out a long list of recommendations.

The other part of the story is that the two Republican senators and the congressmen at Washington are going to follow recommendations.

This at first blush seemed even less probable than the first part of the story, but since the first part has proven true, this part of it must be taken as probably true, too.

This committee will wade through the whole list, it is said, including postmasters, and will finish up the job before adjourning.

The list already given out includes Manuel R. Otero, register of the land office at Santa Fe, and the present register and receiver at Roswell, for re-appointment. No recommendation for receiver of the Santa Fe office has been made as yet.

For postmasters the following have been recommended:

Albuquerque—R. W. Hopkins.

Chilili—Ramon Sanchez.

For postmasters in Torrance county the following are recommended:

Cedarvale—O. P. DeWolfe.

Duran—Present incumbent.

Encino—Ramon Bachiche.

Pinos Wells—Present incumbent.

APPARENTLY NOTHING DOING

Santa Fe, N. M., April 24.—That the senate is marking time and that it is not the present intention of the members of that body to do much if any law making is becoming more apparent as the days go by. The senate leaders assert that they are not "killing time" but that the committees are working and will report the important measures as soon as they have them in proper shape. It is plain, however, that the failure of the senate to pass any measure is not due to the overworked condition of the committees, but that the senate is biding its time awaiting developments of some nature in the house. Just what is coming no one seems to know, but for the present legislation is practically at a standstill. The senate leaders assert that they are going to have all bills given full consideration and for the present at least they are going to consider them in committee of the whole, a section at a time.
